Publisher's Note.

Columbia City, Ind., April 1, 1918.

We present herewith the fourth edition of F. M. Hollis and J. F. Binder's complete directory of Whitley County, Ind., being the edition of 1918. We present the same confidently believing it to be a complete directory of all the interests of each of the towns and city, as well as each township of the county.

While doubtless some minor errors or omissions have been made, we hope the public will not take too great exception thereto. The publishers have exhausted every means in their power to free the work from error.

The publishers desire to acknowledge the valuable aid and assistance rendered by the publishers of the various newspapers, County, City and P. O. Officials. They feel especially grateful for the generous support received from the leading business men in the various towns of the county, and desire to call the reader's attention to the advertisements of these firms. Various indexes will be found in the back of the book to assist our patrons in finding what they may wish.

Yours Very Truly,

HOLLIS & BINDER.

Columbia City, Indiana

COLUMBIA CITY, the capital of Whitley County, is a prosperous, modern city with over 4,000 population and it is located near the center of the county.

The beautiful city lays on the town site that was made on the 16th day of October, 1839. The lots that form the public square which now contains the handsome stone structure, the Whitley county Court House that was erected in 1888, was presented by Elihu Chauncey, who was then a resident of Philadelphia.

On the first day of October, 1840, the present city was organized as a village in due form of law. It was called Columbia and the postoffice Whitley Court House. It was only a few years until the gain of population caused an extension of limits. In 1853 Columbia was organized as an incorporated town under laws of the state of Indiana. As the name of the town and the postoffice were different and as already there was a Columbia postoffice in the state, and election was called to decide upon a name for the new incorporated town. Columbia City and Beaver were the names considered, and the present name won out by a majority of three. The town continued its growth for a number of years, and on the third effort to recognize city government which was on the 12th day of September, 1887, was carried in the affirmative after a spirited fight. From that date it has continued to prosper as a city, and has made many needed and lasting improvements.

Columbia City, while one of the smaller cities of the state, can truthfully boast of being one of the best lighted cities of the whole country, and owns its own electric light plant, which according to the reports of Superintendent Frank T. Schultz shows that it is more than self sustaining. There are lights at the street corners, and in the business and residence district they are strong while in the business part of the city are both satisfactory and attractive. Most of the business houses and residences are supplied with a current that is furnished at a reasonable rental.

The city also owns and operates its own waterworks which furnishes an abundant supply of cold, clear water from four wells at a depth of 280 feet through rock, which flows four and a half feet above the surface. The supply is forced through about twelve miles of mains by two modern Worthington pumps, each having a capacity of a million gallons per day, and the supply has always been sufficient for the demand. The temperature of the water is fifty and one half degrees Fahrenheit. It is odorless, has no offensive taste, bright and sparkling and contains no suspended matter.

There are nearly one hundred fire hydrants located about the city on the street corners, and in case of fire, an extra pressure is applied so that the firemen have all the water they need to readily extinguish the blaze.

Columbia City is a clean and well laid out city, even though it covers acres of ground. It is up-to-date in every way, and the residents enjoy all the modern improvements. It has double sewerage systems, which adds materially to the health of the population. The principal streets are well paved with brick, there being over five miles of such thoroughfares. The sidewalks are all good, and the many shade trees add to the beauty of the city during the spring, summer and fall months.

The business buildings are principally of modern style, many being of the late style brick. The new city hall on the west side of the magnificent stone court house, has just been completed, and is a credit to the city. It is not only fine in structure and convenient to the city officials that have offices on the main floor, but accommodating to the public. There are rest rooms and toilets for both male and female in the basement, while on the upper floor there is a spacious hall for public meetings which is arranged to seat 1,200 people comfortably, beside a stage for accommodation of the speakers.

The Commercial Club was organized a few years ago by the leading business men of the city to look after the welfare and the good of the public in the way of new enterprises and business ventures. H. B. Clugston, the present president, and Charles J. Eyanson, the secretary, are proving as proficient as their successors, and when any new project has their O. K. they can have hopes of meeting with success, but without this there will be nothing accomplished.

As a manufacturing center, Columbia City has the Harper Buggy Works, that still have large orders, and they now also make tops for large automobile manufacturers, thus keeping up their pay roll to a goodly amount each month. The lumber business is one of the great industries of the city, and the S. J. Peabody Mills employ a small army of men. These mills rank with the leading concerns of the state, and ship lumber to many states as well as to foreign countries. The Columbia Woolen Mills is an enterprise that has one hundred employees on the pay roll. The two large flouring mills, the overall factory, the Vance Canning Factory, brick and tile mills, pickle plant, bottling works, creamery, ice cream and broom factories are among the other industries.

The First National, Farmers Loan and Trust Co., and the Provident Trust Co., are the banking institutions, all reliable and each does a regular banking business. The stores in general are far above what is found in much larger cities. The Home Telephone Co., and the Farmers Mutual each have a large list of patrons and both connect with cities at a distance. The Post and the Commercial-Mail represent the press, each publishing daily evening papers except Sunday, also semi and weekly editions.

There are ten church edifices in the city, some being of elegant and of the latest design. Most have large rolls of membership.

Prof. C. E. Spaulding is the superintendent of the City Schools, and Prof. J. B. Holloway is the principal, they being assisted by a competent corps of teachers that instruct the nine hundred pupils in the two buildings in the west ward and the McLallen building on the South Side. The course is one that fits the students for the practical duties of life. A good laboratory is of great assistance to high school students who are eligible to college freshman classes after graduating. The school board is composed of B. J. Bloom, F. J. Heller and Walpole Kaler.

A public library that is maintained by individuals that keep their names in secrecy is located in the Raupfer building, corner of Van Buren and Line streets. Mrs. Jessie Hunter-Faust is in charge of over 14,000 volumes, and makes thousands of loans annually. The late magazines and daily papers are found upon the tables, and are read daily by many callers.

The city officials are competent and obliging. Their offices are in the new hall just south of the New Clugston Hotel, and the officials are John W. Baker, Mayor; Edward E. Erdmann, clerk; Reed Willits, treasurer; Councilmen: C. E. Holderbaum, James Brown, John C. Pentz, Julius B. Leininger and Charles Schinbeckler. W. K. Gregg is the chief of police and street commissioner; Geo. O. Compton, city attorney; Frank T. Schultz, Supt. Electric Light and Waterworks; Henry Romey, Chief of Fire Department the board of health: Dr. D. S. Linvill, Dr. O. V. Schuman and Arthur Corse. Harry G. Bollinger, city engineer. Night policemen Charles Fisher and Guy Spencer.

The fire department is competent and efficient. The large Seagrave motor truck that is kept in the rear of the new city hall, is in charge of John Edward Brown and Harry G. Gelvin, who are the only paid members, except Chief Henry E. Romey.

Columbia City can truthfully be termed one of the best business cities in Northern Indiana. Anyone desiring further information should call on or address the officials of the Commercial Club.

If You Have Rheumatism

You would give almost anything to get rid of it, wouldn't you? And you know it won't get well by simply letting it run on. Rheumatism, like everything else, must have a cause, and you can't cure it until you remove that cause. But what is the use of spending hundreds of dollars at springs and health resorts, when for 50c you can obtain a box of Trusler's Rheumatic Tablets from any druggist, or 6 boxes which will be sufficient for the most obstinate case, for $2.50?

Trusler's Rheumatic Tablets remove all poisonous waste from the bowels and kidneys, and give the blood a chance to build up the entire system.

South Whitley, Ind.

SOUTH WHITLEY, originally Springfield, is the oldest town of the county, it having been laid out in the fall of 1838. It is the second largest town in Whitley County, having a population of about 1,400. It is located in the southwest part of the County, in what is known as the Eel River Valley. The country surrounding the town is as good farming land as can be found in the state of Indiana.

The land which is now a part of South Whitley was entered by Henry S. Gobin on the 15th day of October, 1835. It was sold on the 16th day of July, 1839, to Joseph Parrett, Jr., who very soon afterwards platted the original town site of Springfield, it containing ten lots. Mr. Parrett erected the first hotel and it was of hewn logs. His geniality caused many travelers to stop with him. Corn bread, potatoes and wild game generally constituted the bill of fare.

The postoffice was at the first named South Whitley, and soon the town became known by the same name, but was not legally changed until it was incorporated in the early part of the year 1894. The first postmaster was David D. Parrett, and the mail was then carried from Lagro through South Whitley to Columbia City by private conveyance. William Fox is the present postmaster and is most accommodating to the patrons and public.

The business men are wide-awake and enjoy a very liberal patronage. They have the advantage of the Panhandle and Nicked Plate railways, and are able to directly reach many of the leading markets of the world.

The manufacturing concerns are the Grip Nut Mills, Stave and Heading Mills, Saw Mills, Machine Shops, Overall Factor and the Creamery that help furnish employment to the people of the vicinity.

The town has a good waterworks plant and sewerage system. The mercantile branches are well looked after by able and competent men. The town has two banks, and O. Gandy & Co., who operate one, pay out large sums for grain and seeds at home as well as at other points. The schools are as good as can be found anywhere, and are in charge of a competent corps of teachers. The town has three churches—the Methodist, Baptist and United Brethren—all with good congregations.

The town is also fully blessed with secret societies, and a stranger can always find a friend in the enterprising town.

Churubusco, Ind.

CHURUBUSCO is a thriving town located in the northeast part of Whitley County in Smith township, and has a population of probably 1,200 inhabitants. The east corporate line is within a half mile of the Allen county line, and the Noble county border is only two miles north of the enterprising business place, thus the hustling business men many times have patrons of the three counties in their places at one time.

William B. Walker and David Craig settled on land in 1845 that was subsequently laid out and platted as the towns of Union and Franklin in about 1853, that part south of the railroad being known as Union and the north part Franklin. When the first work was done on the Detroit, Eel River and Illinois railway, now known as the Panhandle system, it was then that the name of Churubusco was adopted.

The town grew steadily after the building of the railroad, and the business men of today are reliable and accommodating. The town has a splendid electric light plant and waterworks system that is owned by Miss Josie Kingdom, both being liberally patronized. The volunteer fire department, composed of engine, hose, hook and ladder companies, responds to all calls so that the town has never experienced any great conflagrations.

The saw mill industry and the Fisk manufacturing company furnish employment for a large force of workmen. The Exchange bank, owned and operated by O. Gandy & Co., and the Farmers State Bank, are the financial institutions. The O. Gandy & Co. own and operate the grain elevators, and are interested at South Whitley, Arcola, and over the state, they being engaged in real estate, as well as other business.

In Smith township, in which Churubusco is situated, the first church society of the county was organized in the year 1838, being of Methodist denomination. Today Churubusco has three church buildings, the Methodist, United Brethren and Baptist, and each has a good membership.

The schools are ranked in first place and are in charge of a competent corps of teachers. The leading secret societies are all represented and each order has a goodly number of the leading people enrolled.

DIRECTORY OF LARWILL

Larwill, Ind.

LARWILL, the capital of Richland township, was laid out on the line of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railway, in November, 1854, and was first known as Huntsville. From the first there was a confusion about receiving mail matter, as there was at that time a Huntsville postoffice in the state. The board of commissioners, on March 8th, 1866, officially changed the name from Huntsville to Larwill. The postoffice that had been located at Summit, one mile west was moved to Larwill when the railroad reached that point.

The first store was opened by Dodge & McLallen, and the stock was of a varied assortment, composed of a little of everything, but was to suit the times. The town continued to grow, and at one time, in the early '70's, was the best trading point in the county.

There is no manufacturing industries, and the merchants who have for years been prosperous on account of the strictest care and prudence, depend upon the farming trade. The bank that was established there some ten years ago, and now under the direction of Alfred Young, is a great help to the business men and the general public of that vicinity.

The public schools that are always under the direction of a competent corps of instructors, furnishes a high school course, and many students go from there to the colleges to complete their work for actual life.

Larwill has four church buildings, the Methodist, Baptist, Wesleyan and Free Methodist. All are substantial and each congregation has a good membership.

Larwill has no fire department, but the bucket brigade generally does good work.

The Story of Our ...Drug Store...

BUSINESS SINCERITY

The Period from this store's modest beginning to its present foremost position has been a period of distinguished achievement. It has grown quietly, it may be, but surely; never lagging, but always first to find and put into practice new methods, improved facilities and conveniences and keeping pace with or in advance of increasing trade. And so, it has grown steadily from the first day it opened, upon the unaltered and unalterable foundation of old fashioned business sincerity.

THE HONOR ROLL

They Are Fighting to Keep the Home Fires Burning.

They rose to meet their country's call;

It was the call of God, no less.

They freely sacrificed their all,

And gave themselves the world to bless.

Their hearts are loyal, their purpose true;

For freedom's cause throbs in their breast.

Whitley County's dead in the World War for the abolition of German Militarism.

WARNICK, CHARLES

KERNS, MARSHALL

The following list of young men given by townships are those who were in Service for the American flag on April 8th, 1918 in the World War from Whitley County, from all reports, some being in actual battle and the remainder in training camps ready to move on call.
